PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Kevin Shea, Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, United States Department of Agriculture [Administrator], instituted this disciplinary administrative proceeding by filing a Complaint on January 11, 2017. The Administrator instituted the proceeding under the Horse Protection Act of 1970, as amended (15 U.S.C. §§ 1821-1831) [Horse Protection Act]; the regulations issued pursuant to the Horse Protection Act (9 C.F.R. pt. 11) [Regulations]; and the Rules of Practice Governing Formal Adjudicatory Proceedings Instituted by the Secretary Under Various Statutes (7 C.F.R. §§ 1.130-.151) [Rules of Practice].

The Administrator alleges that, on or about August 26, 2016, Amelia Haselden allowed a horse that she owned, known as “Famous and Andy,” to be entered, while Famous and Andy was sore, for showing in class 54 in a horse show in Shelbyville, Tennessee, in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D).¹

On January 27, 2017, the Hearing Clerk, Office of Administrative Law Judges, United States Department of Agriculture [Hearing Clerk], by certified mail, served Ms. Haselden with the Complaint, the Rules of Practice, and the Hearing Clerk’s service letter.² Ms. Haselden failed to file an answer within twenty days after the Hearing Clerk served her with the Complaint, as required by 7 C.F.R. § 1.136(a). On February 21, 2017, Ms. Haselden filed a late-filed Answer of Respondents.

On March 20, 2017, the Administrator filed a Motion for Adoption of Decision and Order as to Amelia Haselden by Reason of Default [Motion for Default Decision] and a Proposed Decision and Order as to Amelia Haselden by Reason of Default [Proposed Default Decision]. On April 3, 2017, Ms. Haselden filed Respondents’ Opposition to Petitioner’s Motion for Adoption of Decision and Order by Reason of Default [Opposition to the Motion for Default Decision]. Ms. Haselden included in the Opposition to the Motion for Default Decision a request that the case be dismissed or abated because United States Department of Agriculture administrative law judges cannot lawfully adjudicate her liability for a violation of the Horse Protection Act or lawfully impose a sanction for a violation of the Horse Protection Act. Ms. Haselden contended that only a duly appointed officer of the United States can preside over a proceeding that determines liability and the United States Department of Agriculture’s delegation of enforcement authority to United States Department of Agriculture administrative law judges contravenes the Appointments Clause of the Constitution of the United States.³ The Administrator filed Complainant's Motion to Certify Question to the Judicial Officer:⁴

Should the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Administrative Law Judges continue to preside over administrative proceedings before the Secretary of Agriculture unless and until such time as there is a final determination by the federal courts that they lack authority to do so?

On April 5, 2017, Chief Administrative Law Judge Bobbie J. McCartney [Chief ALJ] issued an Order Denying Respondents' Motion to Dismiss or Abate Proceedings and Complainant's Motion to Certify Question to the Judicial Officer. On April 25, 2017, in accordance with 7 C.F.R. § 1.139, the Chief ALJ filed a Default Decision and Order [Default Decision] in which the Chief ALJ: (1) concluded Ms. Haselden violated the Horse Protection Act, as alleged in the Complaint; (2) assessed Ms. Haselden a $2,200 civil penalty; and (3) disqualified Ms. Haselden for one year from showing or exhibiting any horse in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction and from judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction.⁵

On May 23, 2017, Ms. Haselden appealed the Chief ALJ's Default Decision to the Judicial Officer.⁶ On July 17, 2017, the Administrator filed a response to Ms. Haselden's Appeal Petition,⁷ and, on August 3, 2017, the Hearing Clerk transmitted the record to the Office of the Judicial Officer for consideration and decision. Based upon a careful consideration of the record, I affirm the Chief ALJ's Default Decision.

MS. HASELDEN'S APPEAL PETITION

Ms. Haselden raises fifteen issues in her Appeal Petition. First, Ms. Haselden contends this case must be dismissed because the Chief ALJ has not been appointed an inferior officer, as required by the Appointments Clause of the Constitution of the United States, and, therefore, is not authorized to adjudicate this proceeding (Appeal Pet. at 9-37).

The federal courts have made no final determination that administrative law judges generally -- or United States Department of Agriculture administrative law judges specifically -- lack constitutional authority to preside over administrative disciplinary proceedings instituted by the Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act. The United States Department of Agriculture's administrative law judges should continue to preside over administrative proceedings before the Secretary of Agriculture unless and until there is a final determination by the federal courts that they lack the authority to do so. The authority of United States Department of Agriculture administrative law judges to preside over administrative proceedings is a matter of great importance, as these proceedings are an essential part of the United States Department of Agriculture's mission. The Rules of Practice provide for appeals of the initial decisions of administrative law judges⁸ and the Horse Protection Act provides for judicial review of the decisions of the Secretary of Agriculture.⁹ Based upon the provisions for judicial review in the Horse Protection Act, I find challenges to the constitutionality of the United States Department of Agriculture's administrative law judges and the administrative process should be raised in an appropriate United States Court of Appeals.¹⁰ Moreover, Ms. Haselden cannot avoid or enjoin this administrative proceeding by raising constitutional issues.¹¹ As the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit stated:

This point is fundamental to administrative law. Every person hoping to enjoin an ongoing administrative proceeding could make this argument, yet courts consistently require plaintiffs to use the administrative review schemes established by Congress. See Thunder Basin Coal, 510 U.S. at 216, 114 S. Ct. 771 (“Nothing in the language and structure of the Act or its legislative history suggests that Congress intended to allow mine operators to evade the statutory-review process by enjoining the Secretary from commencing enforcement proceedings, as petitioner sought to do here.”); Sturm Ruger & Co. v. Chao, 300 F.3d 867, 876 (D.C. Cir. 2002) (“Our obligation to respect the review process established by Congress bars us from permitting Sturm Ruger to make this end run, and requires dismissal of its district court complaint.”); USAA Federal Savings Bank v. McLaughlin, 849 F.2d 1505, 1510 (D.C. Cir. 1988) (“Where, as here, the ‘injury’ inflicted on the party seeking review is the burden of going through an agency proceeding, [Standard Oil Co.] teaches that the party must patiently await the denouement of proceeding within the Article II branch.”); Chau v. SEC, 72 F. Supp.3d 417, 425 (S.D.N.Y. 2014), (“This Court’s jurisdiction is not an escape hatch for litigants to delay or derail an administrative action when statutory channels of review are entirely adequate.”). . . .

We see no evidence from the statute’s text, structure, and purpose that Congress intended for plaintiffs like Bebo who are already subject to ongoing administrative enforcement proceedings to be able to stop those proceedings by challenging the constitutionality of the enabling legislation or the structural authority of the SEC.

¹¹ See FTC v. Standard Oil Co. of California, 449 U.S. 232, 244-45 (1980) (refusing to enjoin an allegedly unlawful administrative proceeding where the court of appeals would be able to review alleged unlawfulness after the agency proceeding had concluded); Jarkesy v. SEC, 803 F.3d 9, 27 (D.C. Cir. 2015) (refusing to enjoin proceedings before an administrative law judge based on an Appointments Clause challenge because the plaintiff had “no inherent right to avoid an administrative proceeding at all” even if his arguments were correct).

Bebo v. SEC, 799 F.3d 765, 774-75 (7th Cir. 2015), cert. denied, 136 S. Ct. 1500 (2016).

To disqualify administrative law judges and dismiss administrative proceedings in advance of a final determination by the federal judiciary as to the authority of those administrative law judges to preside over administrative proceedings would be premature. Therefore, I reject Ms. Haselden's contention that this case must be dismissed because the Chief ALJ has not been appointed as an inferior officer, as required by the Appointments Clause of the Constitution of the United States.

Second, Ms. Haselden contends the Judicial Officer is not lawfully appointed, as required by the Appointments Clause of the Constitution of the United States (Appeal Pet. at 37-66).

Congress authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to administer the Horse Protection Act and authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to delegate his regulatory functions to an officer or employee of the United States Department of Agriculture.¹² Pursuant to the authority to delegate regulatory functions, the Secretary of Agriculture established the position of "Judicial Officer"¹³ and delegated authority to the Judicial Officer to act as the final deciding officer, in lieu of the Secretary of Agriculture, in adjudicatory proceedings identified in 7 C.F.R. § 2.35. These adjudicatory proceedings include all proceedings subject to the Rules of Practice, including proceedings instituted under the Horse Protection Act.¹⁴ Secretary of Agriculture Daniel R.

¹³ Originally the position was designated "Assistant to the Secretary." In 1945, as a result of a United States Department of Agriculture reorganization, the position was redesignated "Judicial Officer" (10 Fed. Reg. 13769 (Nov. 9, 1945)).

¹⁴ 7 C.F.R. § 2.35(a)(2).

Glickman first appointed me as the Judicial Officer in January 1996 and, on June 6, 2017, Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue reappointed me as the Judicial Officer.¹⁵ Therefore, I reject Ms. Haselden's contention that I have not been lawfully appointed an inferior officer to act as the deciding officer in adjudicatory proceedings under the Horse Protection Act.

Ms. Haselden further contends the Judicial Officer is a principal officer that must be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate because no principal officer in the United States Department of Agriculture supervises the Judicial Officer's exercise of decision making authority (Appeal Pet. at 43-44).

The Judicial Officer serves at the pleasure of the Secretary of Agriculture, who can remove the Judicial Officer at any time. Moreover, the Secretary of Agriculture can, at any time prior to issuance of a decision by the Judicial Officer, instruct the Judicial Officer regarding the disposition of the proceeding. Further still, beginning in August 2015, the Judicial Officer became subject to a performance plan. During the period August 2015 through May 2017, the Judicial Officer was subject to appraisal by the United States Department of Agriculture's Assistant Secretary for Administration and, since May 2017, by the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture. Therefore, I reject Ms. Haselden's contention that the Judicial Officer is a principal officer that must be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate because no principal officer in the United States Department of Agriculture supervises the Judicial Officer's exercise of decision making authority.

Third, Ms. Haselden asserts she was not provided with notice of this proceeding and an opportunity for a hearing before the Secretary of Agriculture (Appeal Pet. at 66).

The record establishes that the Hearing Clerk served Ms. Haselden with the Complaint, the ¹⁵ Attach. 1.

Rules of Practice, and the Hearing Clerk's service letter on January 27, 2017.¹⁶ The Complaint states the nature of the proceeding, the identification of the complainant and the respondent, the legal authority and jurisdiction under which the proceeding is instituted, the allegations of fact and provisions of law which constitute a basis for the proceeding, and the nature of the relief sought. The Complaint and the Hearing Clerk's service letter, dated January 12, 2017, also state that the Rules of Practice govern the proceeding and that Ms. Haselden has an opportunity for a hearing.¹⁷ Moreover, the Rules of Practice, the Hearing Clerk's January 12, 2017 service letter, and the Complaint state that failure to file a timely answer to the Complaint shall be deemed an admission of the allegations in the Complaint and a waiver of hearing.¹⁸ Therefore, I reject Ms. Haselden's assertion that she was not provided with notice of this proceeding and an opportunity for a hearing.

Fourth, Ms. Haselden contends the Chief ALJ's issuance of the Default Decision, based upon Ms. Haselden's violation of the Rules of Practice, is an abuse of discretion and violates the Administrative Procedure Act, the Horse Protection Act, and United States Department of Agriculture practice (Appeal Pet. at 67).

The Hearing Clerk served Ms. Haselden with the Complaint on January 27, 2017.¹⁹ The Rules of Practice provide that within twenty days after service of a complaint the respondent shall file an answer with the Hearing a Clerk²⁰ and the failure to file a timely answer shall be deemed, for the purposes of the proceeding, an admission of the allegations in the complaint and a waiver of hearing.²¹ Twenty days after the Hearing Clerk served Ms. Haselden with the Complaint was February 16, 2017. Ms. Haselden did not file the Answer of Respondents until February 21, 2017, five days after Ms. Haselden's answer was required to be filed with Hearing Clerk. Therefore, the Chief ALJ's issuance of the Default Decision comports with the Rules of Practice. Ms. Haselden does not cite, and I cannot locate, any provision of the Administrative Procedure Act or the Horse Protection Act or any United States Department of Agriculture practice that supports Ms. Haselden's contention that the Chief ALJ violated the Administrative Procedure Act, the Horse Protection Act, and United States Department of Agriculture practice when she issued the Default Decision based upon Ms. Haselden's failure to file a timely answer to the Complaint.

Fifth, citing the four-month period between her alleged violation of the Horse Protection Act and the date the Administrator issued the Complaint and the number of complaints filed by the Administrator in 2016 and 2017, Ms. Haselden questions the adequacy of the investigation that resulted in the Administrator's issuance of the Complaint and the Administrator's motivation for filing the Complaint (Appeal Pet. at 66-75.)

A presumption of regularity supports the official acts of public officers, and, in the absence of clear evidence to the contrary, I must presume the Administrator filed the Complaint in this proceeding based upon his belief that the investigation of Ms. Haselden's violations of the Horse Protection Act was properly conducted and the evidence supports the allegations in the Complaint.²²

Sixth, Ms. Haselden contends the Administrator failed to serve her with the Complaint and failed to plead and prove that service of the Complaint was made in accordance with the Rules of Practice (Appeal Pet. at 76-80).

Ms. Haselden raises arguments regarding improper service of the Complaint for the first time on appeal to the Judicial Officer. These arguments should have been raised before the Chief ALJ. New arguments cannot be raised for the first time on appeal to the Judicial Officer.²³

Dec. 1468, 1494 (U.S.D.A. 1981) (stating there is a presumption of regularity with respect to the issuance of instructions as to grading methods and procedures by the Chief of the Meat Grading Branch, Food Safety and Quality Service, United States Department of Agriculture), aff'd, No. CV 81-6485 (C.D. Therefore, I conclude Ms. Haselden has waived her arguments regarding defective service of the Complaint and the Administrator's failure to plead and prove service of the Complaint.

Seventh, Ms. Haselden contends the Chief ALJ erroneously failed to address her request for an extension of time within which to file an answer to the Complaint (Appeal Pet. at 80-83).

On February 21, 2017, Ms. Haselden filed a late-filed Answer of Respondents, which included a request for "additional time to answer the Complaint."²⁴ I find nothing in the record indicating that the Chief ALJ ruled on Ms. Haselden's motion to enlarge the time to respond to the Complaint. Nonetheless, I decline to remand this proceeding to the Chief ALJ for a ruling on Ms. Haselden's motion. Instead, I find the Chief ALJ's issuance of the April 25, 2017 Default Decision and failure to rule on Ms. Haselden's request for additional time to file an answer operate as an implicit denial of Ms. Haselden's motion to extend the time to respond to the Complaint.²⁵

Parenthetically, I note Ms. Haselden's motion for an extension of time to file a response to the Complaint was moot when she filed the motion because Ms. Haselden simultaneously filed the Answer of Respondents.

Eighth, Ms. Haselden contends the Chief ALJ's Default Decision must be vacated because the Administrator failed to file a response to Ms. Haselden's Opposition to the Motion for Default Decision and the Chief ALJ failed to address the merits of Ms. Haselden's Opposition to the Motion for Default Decision (Appeal Pet. at 83-98).

The Rules of Practice do not require a complainant to file a response to a respondent's objections to a proposed default decision and motion for adoption of that proposed default decision.²⁶ Therefore, I reject Ms. Haselden's contention that the Chief ALJ's Default Decision must be vacated because the Administrator failed to file a response to Ms. Haselden's Opposition to the Motion for Default Decision.

Similarly, the Rules of Practice do not require the Chief ALJ to address the merits of Ms. Haselden's objections to the Administrator's Proposed Default Decision and Motion for Default Decision. The Rules of Practice provide, if the administrative law judge finds the respondent has filed meritorious objections to the complainant's motion for a default decision and proposed default decision, the administrative law judge shall deny the complainant's motion for a default decision with supporting reasons; however, if the administrative law judge finds the respondent has not filed meritorious objections to the complainant's motion for a default decision and proposed default decision, the administrative law judge is merely required to issue a decision without further procedure or hearing.²⁷ The Chief ALJ found Ms. Haselden's objections to the Administrator's Motion for Default Decision and Proposed Default Decision were not meritorious, and, therefore, issued the April 25, 2017 Default Decision without further procedure or hearing, as required by the Rules of Practice.

Ninth, Ms. Haselden contends, even if she is deemed to have admitted the allegations of the Complaint, those allegations do not justify the sanctions imposed by the Chief ALJ (Appeal Pet. at 98-103).

The Administrator alleges:

83. On or about August 26, 2016, Ms. Haselden allowed Mr. Fleming, Mr. Fulton and Mr. Grant to enter a horse she owned (Famous and Andy), while the horse was sore, for showing in class 54 in a horse show in Shelbyville, Tennessee, in violation of the Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)).

Complaint ¶ 83 at 14. Based upon Ms. Haselden's failure to file a timely answer, Ms. Haselden is deemed, for the purposes of this proceeding, to have admitted the allegation in paragraph 83 of the Complaint that she violated the Horse Protection Act. Therefore, Ms. Haselden is subject to the statutory penalties set forth in the Horse Protection Act and imposed by the Chief ALJ, namely, assessment of a civil penalty of up to $2,200 and disqualification from showing or exhibiting any horse in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction and from judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction for not less than one year.²⁸

Tenth, Ms. Haselden contends she was excused from filing a timely answer because the Complaint is "conclusory" and does not "describe how or in what manner the horse was determined to be sore;” therefore, the Complaint does not comply with the Administrative Procedure Act or the Rules of Practice (Appeal Pet. at 101).

The formalities and technicalities of court pleading are not applicable in administrative proceedings.²⁹ A complaint in an administrative proceeding must reasonably apprise the litigant of the issues in controversy; a complaint is adequate and satisfies due process in the absence of a showing that some party was misled.³⁰ Therefore, in order to comply with the Administrative Procedure Act and the Rules of Practice, the complaint must include allegations of fact and provisions of law that constitute a basis for the proceeding, and, in order to comply with the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, the complaint must apprise the respondent of the issues in controversy. The Complaint apprises Ms. Haselden of the issues in controversy and sets forth allegations of fact and provisions of law that constitute a basis for the proceeding.

Eleventh, Ms. Haselden contends any use of warning letters denies her due process (Appeal Pet. at 98-101).

The Administrator alleged and Ms. Haselden is deemed to have admitted that the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, United States Department of Agriculture [APHIS], issued two warning letters to Ms. Haselden, as follows:

54. In 2014, APHIS issued an Official Warning (TN 130304) to Ms. Haselden with respect to her having entered a horse (He’s Pushin’ Jose) in a horse show on August 25, 2011, which horse APHIS found was bearing prohibited substances (including isopropyl myristate).

55. On June 27, 2016, APHIS issued an Official Warning (TN 160221) to Ms. Haselden with respect to her having allowed the entry of a horse (Bolero) in a horse show on September 5, 2015, which horse APHIS found was sore.

Complaint ¶¶ 54-55 at 10. The Horse Protection Act specifically requires the Secretary of Agriculture, in assessing a civil penalty for a violation, to take into consideration all factors relevant to such determination.³¹ A respondent's receipt of a warning letter from APHIS is a factor that the Secretary of Agriculture may consider in determining the amount of a civil penalty. Warning letters are both relevant and admissible in Horse Protection Act cases (as well as in other administrative enforcement proceedings).³² Warning letters show that APHIS notified a respondent of noncompliance with the Horse Protection Act. Warning letters are intended to insure future compliance.

Twelfth, Ms. Haselden contends the Complaint does not provide her with sufficient notice to apprise her of the sanctions sought by the Administrator (Appeal Pet. at 102).

The Rules of Practice require that the complaint state briefly and clearly "the nature of the relief sought."³³ The Complaint does just that, namely, the Administrator requests the issuance of "such order or orders with respect to sanctions...as are authorized by the Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825) and warranted under the circumstances."³⁴ The specific sanctions authorized by the Horse Protection Act are set forth in 15 U.S.C. § 1825. Therefore, I reject Ms. Haselden's contention that the Complaint does not provide her with sufficient notice to apprise her of the sanctions sought by the Administrator.

Thirteenth, Ms. Haselden contends the Chief ALJ lacked jurisdiction to assess a penalty of disqualification pursuant to the Horse Protection Act because there was no pleading or proof that Ms. Haselden had paid a fine assessed under 15 U.S.C. § 1825(b) or was subject to a final order issued by the Secretary of Agriculture assessing a penalty under 15 U.S.C. § 1825(b) (Appeal Pet. at 103-18).

The Horse Protection Act authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to disqualify persons from "showing or exhibiting any horse, judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, or horse sale or auction for a period of not less than one year for the first violation and not less than five years for any subsequent violation."³⁵ The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to disqualify persons as provided in the Horse Protection Act whether or not the complaint "pleads" a prior violation of the Horse Protection Act.

Fourteenth, Ms. Haselden contends the Secretary of Agriculture violated the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended (5 U.S.C. § 552a) [Privacy Act] (Appeal Pet. at 118-21, 128-42).

This proceeding is a disciplinary administrative proceeding to determine whether Ms. Haselden has violated the Horse Protection Act, as alleged in the Complaint; it is not a proceeding to determine whether the Secretary of Agriculture violated the Privacy Act. Moreover, I do not have jurisdiction to entertain Ms. Haselden's Privacy Act claims.³⁶

³⁵ 15 U.S.C. § 1825(c).

Fifteenth, Ms. Haselden asserts an official warning is not a determination that a person has violated the Horse Protection Act (Appeal Pet. at 125-28).

The Administrator alleges APHIS issued two Official Warnings to Ms. Haselden regarding the entry of horses in horse shows in violation of the Horse Protection Act.³⁷ I agree with Ms. Haselden that the issuance of a warning letter does not indicate that the Secretary of Agriculture has determined that the person to whom the warning letter is addressed has violated the Horse Protection Act. However, I have long held that prior warnings are relevant to the sanction to be imposed.³⁸

DECISION

Statement of the Case

Ms. Haselden failed to file an answer to the Complaint within the time prescribed in 7 C.F.R. § 1.136(a). The Rules of Practice (7 C.F.R. § 1.136(c)) provide that the failure to file an answer to a complaint within the time prescribed in 7 C.F.R. § 1.136(a) shall be deemed an admission of the allegations in the complaint. Further, pursuant to 7 C.F.R. § 1.139, the failure to file a timely answer constitutes a waiver of hearing. Accordingly, the material allegations of the Complaint as they relate to Ms. Haselden are adopted as findings of fact. I issue this Decision and Order as to Amelia Haselden pursuant to 7 C.F.R. § 1.139.

Findings of Fact

1. Ms. Haselden is an individual with a mailing address in [REDACTED]. At all times material to this proceeding, Ms. Haselden was a “person” and an “exhibitor,” as those terms are defined in the Regulations.

2. The nature and circumstances of Ms. Haselden’s prohibited conduct are that Ms. Haselden allowed the entry of a horse she owned, known as “Famous and Andy,” in a horse show, while Famous and Andy was “sore,” as that term is defined in the Horse Protection Act and the Regulations. The extent and gravity of Ms. Haselden’s prohibited conduct are great. Congress enacted the Horse Protection Act to end the practice of making gaited horses, including Tennessee Walking Horses, “sore” for the purpose of altering their natural gait to achieve a higher-stepping gait and to gain an unfair competitive advantage during performances at horse shows.³⁹

3. Ms. Haselden is culpable for the violation of the Horse Protection Act set forth in the Conclusions of Law. Owners of horses are absolute guarantors that those horses will not be sore within the meaning of the Horse Protection Act when they are entered or shown.⁴⁰

³⁹ “When the front limbs of a horse have been deliberately made ‘sore,’ usually by using chains or chemicals, ‘the intense pain which the animal suffered when placing his forefeet on the ground would cause him to lift them up quickly and thrust them forward, reproducing exactly [the distinctive high-stepping gait of a champion Walker].’ H.R. Rep. No. 91-1597, 91st Cong., 2d Sess. 2 (1970), reprinted in 1970 U.S.C.C.A.N. 4870, 4871. Congress’ reasons for prohibiting this practice were twofold. First, it inflicted unnecessary pain on the animals; and second, those who made their animal ‘sore’ gained an unfair competitive advantage over those who relied on skill and patience. In 1976, Congress significantly strengthened the Act by amending it to make clear that intent to make a horse ‘sore’ is not a necessary element of a violation. See Thornton v. U.S.D.A., 715 F.2d 1508, 1511-12 (11th Cir. 1983).” Edwards, 55 Agric. Dec. 892, 950 (U.S.D.A. 1996), dismissed, No. 96-9472 (11th Cir. Aug. 15, 1997).

4. APHIS has issued two warning letters to Ms. Haselden.

5. In 2014, APHIS issued an Official Warning (TN 130304) to Ms. Haselden with respect to her having entered a horse (He's Pushin' Jose) in a horse show on August 25, 2011, which horse APHIS found bearing prohibited substances (including isopropyl myristate).

6. On June 27, 2016, APHIS issued an Official Warning (TN 160221) to Ms. Haselden with respect to her having allowed the entry of a horse (Bolero) in a horse show on September 5, 2015, which horse APHIS found was sore.

Conclusions of Law

1. The Secretary of Agriculture has jurisdiction in this matter.

2. On or about August 26, 2016, Ms. Haselden allowed the entry of a horse she owned, known as "Famous and Andy," while Famous and Andy was sore, for showing in class 54 in a horse show in Shelbyville, Tennessee, in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D).

For the foregoing reasons, the following Order is issued.

ORDER

1. Ms. Haselden is assessed a $2,200 civil penalty. Ms. Haselden shall pay the civil penalty by certified check or money order, made payable to the "Treasurer of the United States" and send the certified check or money order to:

to HPA Docket No. 17-0127.

2. Ms. Haselden is disqualified for one year from showing or exhibiting any horse in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction, directly or indirectly through any agent, employee, corporation, partnership, or other device, and from judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction. The disqualification of Ms. Haselden shall become effective on the 60th day after service of this Order on Ms. Haselden.

RIGHT TO SEEK JUDICIAL REVIEW

Ms. Haselden has the right to seek judicial review of the Order in this Decision and Order as to Amelia Haselden in the court of appeals of the United States for the circuit in which Ms. Haselden resides or has her place of business or in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. Ms. Haselden must file a notice of appeal in such court within thirty days from the date of this Order and must simultaneously send a copy of any notice of appeal by certified mail to the Secretary of Agriculture.⁴¹ The date of this Order is October 13, 2017.
