PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Complainant alleges that on September 4, 1998, Robert B. McCloy, Jr. [hereinafter Respondent], allowed the entry of a horse known as Ebony Threats Ms. Professor [hereinafter Missy] for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration in Shelbyville, Tennessee, while Missy was sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act. The present proceeding was instituted by Complainant to seek a decision and order imposing discipline upon Respondent for the violation.
Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)) (Compl. ¶ 3). On June 1, 1999, Respondent filed Respondent’s Original Answer [hereinafter Answer]. Respondent admits he was the owner of Missy during all times material to this proceeding but denies he allowed the entry of Missy for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration in Shelbyville, Tennessee, while Missy was sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)) (Answer ¶¶ 2-4).

On August 10, 2001, the ALJ issued a Decision and Order [hereinafter Initial Decision and Order] in which the ALJ concluded Respondent violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)), as alleged in the Complaint, and assessed Respondent a $2,200 civil penalty (Initial Decision and Order at 13-14).

Based upon a careful consideration of the record, I agree with most of the ALJ’s findings of fact, the ALJ’s conclusion that Respondent violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)), and the ALJ’s assessment of a $2,200 civil penalty against Respondent. However, I also disqualify Respondent for a period of 1 year from showing, exhibiting, or entering any horse and from managing, judging, or otherwise participating in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction. Moreover, I disagree with portions of the ALJ’s discussion. Therefore, while I retain portions of the ALJ’s Initial Decision and Order, I do not adopt the Initial Decision and Order as the final Decision and Order.

CHAPTER 44 PROTECTION OF HORSES

§ 1821. Definitions

As used in this chapter unless the context otherwise requires:

(3) The term "sore" when used to describe a horse means that

(A) an irritating or blistering agent has been applied, internally or externally, by a person to any limb of a horse,
(B) any burn, cut, or laceration has been inflicted by a person on any limb of a horse,
(C) any tack, nail, screw, or chemical agent has been injected by a person into or used by a person on any limb of a horse, or
(D) any other substance or device has been used by a person on any limb of a horse or a person has engaged in a practice involving a horse, and, as a result of such application, infliction, injection, use, or practice, such horse suffers, or can reasonably be expected to suffer, physical pain or distress, inflammation, or lameness when walking, trotting, or otherwise moving, except that such term does not include such an application, infliction, injection, use, or practice in connection with the therapeutic treatment of a horse by or under the supervision of a person licensed to practice veterinary medicine in the State in which such treatment was given.

§ 1822. Congressional statement of findings

The Congress finds and declares that

(1) the soring of horses is cruel and inhumane;
(2) horses shown or exhibited which are sore, where such soreness improves the performance of such horse, compete unfairly with horses which are not sore;

(3) the movement, showing, exhibition, or sale of sore horses in intrastate commerce adversely affects and burdens interstate and foreign commerce;

(4) all horses which are subject to regulation under this chapter are either in interstate or foreign commerce or substantially affect such commerce; and

(5) regulation under this chapter by the Secretary is appropriate to prevent and eliminate burdens upon commerce and to effectively regulate commerce.

§ 1823. Horse shows and exhibitions

(a) Disqualification of horses

The management of any horse show or horse exhibition shall disqualify any horse from being shown or exhibited (1) which is sore or (2) if the management has been notified by a person appointed in accordance with regulations under subsection (c) of this section or by the Secretary that the horse is sore.

(c) Appointment of inspectors; manner of inspections

The Secretary shall prescribe by regulation requirements for the appointment by the management of any horse show, horse exhibition, or horse sale or auction of persons qualified to detect and diagnose a horse which is sore or to otherwise inspect horses for the purposes of enforcing this chapter. Such requirements shall prohibit the appointment of persons who, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, have been disqualified by the Secretary to make such detection, diagnosis, or inspection. Appointment of a person in accordance with the requirements prescribed under this subsection shall not be construed as authorizing such person to conduct inspections in a manner other than that prescribed for inspections by the Secretary (or the Secretary's representative) under subsection (e) of this section.
§ 1824. Unlawful acts

The following conduct is prohibited:

(2) The (A) showing or exhibiting, in any horse show or horse exhibition, of any horse which is sore, (B) entering for the purpose of showing or exhibiting in any horse show or horse exhibition, any horse which is sore, (C) selling, auctioning, or offering for sale, in any horse sale or auction, any horse which is sore, and (D) allowing any activity described in clause (A), (B), or (C) respecting a horse which is sore by the owner of such horse.

§ 1825. Violations and penalties

(b) Civil penalties; review and enforcement

(1) Any person who violates section 1824 of this title shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty of not more than $2,000 for each violation. No penalty shall be assessed unless such person is given notice and opportunity for a hearing before the Secretary with respect to such violation. The amount of such civil penalty shall be assessed by the Secretary by written order. In determining the amount of such penalty, the Secretary shall take into account all factors relevant to such determination, including the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the prohibited conduct and, with respect to the person found to have engaged in such conduct, the degree of culpability, any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, effect on ability to continue to do business, and such other matters as justice may require.

(2) Any person against whom a violation is found and a civil penalty assessed under paragraph (1) of this subsection may obtain review in the court of appeals of the United States for the circuit in which such person resides or has his place of business or in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit by filing a notice of appeal in such court within 30 days from the date of such order and by simultaneously sending a copy of such notice by certified mail to the Secretary. The Secretary shall promptly file in such court a certified copy of the record upon which such violation was found and such penalty assessed, as provided in section 2112 of title 28. The findings of the Secretary shall be set aside if found to be unsupported by substantial evidence.

(c) Disqualification of offenders; orders; civil penalties applicable; enforcement procedures

In addition to any fine, imprisonment, or civil penalty authorized under this section, any person who was convicted under subsection (a) of this section or who paid a civil penalty assessed under subsection (b) of this section or is subject to a final order under such subsection assessing a civil penalty for any violation of any provision of this chapter or any regulation issued under this chapter may be disqualified by order of the Secretary, after notice and an opportunity for a hearing before the Secretary, from showing or exhibiting any horse, judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, or horse sale or auction for a period of not less than one year for the first violation and not less than five years for any subsequent violation. Any person who knowingly fails to obey an order of disqualification shall be subject to a civil penalty of not more than $3,000 for each violation. Any horse show, horse exhibition, or horse sale or auction, or the management thereof, collectively and severally, which knowingly allows any person who is under an order of disqualification to show or exhibit any horse, to enter for the purpose of showing or exhibiting any horse, to take part in managing or judging, or otherwise to participate in any horse show, horse exhibition, or horse sale or auction in violation of an order shall be subject to a civil penalty of not more than $3,000 for each violation. The provisions of subsection (b) of this section respecting the assessment, review, collection, and compromise, modification, and remission of a civil penalty apply with respect to civil penalties under this subsection.

(d) Production of witnesses and books, papers, and documents; depositions; fees; presumptions; jurisdiction

(5) In any civil or criminal action to enforce this chapter or any regulation under this chapter a horse shall be presumed to be a horse which is sore if it manifests abnormal sensitivity or inflammation in both of its forelimbs or both of its hindlimbs.
§ 1828. Rules and regulations

The Secretary is authorized to issue such rules and regulations as he deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

FEDERAL CIVIL PENALTIES INFLATION ADJUSTMENT

SHORT TITLE

SECTION 1. This Act may be cited as the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act of 1990

FINDINGS AND PURPOSE

SEC. 2. (a) FINDINGS. The Congress finds that

(1) the power of Federal agencies to impose civil monetary penalties for violations of Federal law and regulations plays an important role in deterring violations and furthering the policy goals embodied in such laws and regulations;

(2) the impact of many civil monetary penalties has been and is diminished due to the effect of inflation;
(3) by reducing the impact of civil monetary penalties, inflation has weakened the deterrent effect of such penalties; and
(4) the Federal Government does not maintain comprehensive, detailed accounting of the efforts of Federal agencies to assess and collect civil monetary penalties.

(b) PURPOSE The purpose of this Act is to establish a mechanism that shall

(1) allow for regular adjustment for inflation of civil monetary penalties;
(2) maintain the deterrent effect of civil monetary penalties and promote compliance with the law; and
(3) improve the collection by the Federal Government of civil monetary penalties.

DEFINITIONS

SEC. 3. For purposes of this Act, the term

(1) agency means an Executive agency as defined under section 105 of title 5, United States Code, and includes the United States Postal Service;
(2) civil monetary penalty means any penalty, fine, or other sanction that (A)(i) is for a specific monetary amount as provided by Federal law; or
(ii) has a maximum amount provided for by Federal law; and
(B) is assessed or enforced by an agency pursuant to Federal law; and
(C) is assessed or enforced pursuant to an administrative proceeding or a civil action in the Federal courts; and
(3) Consumer Price Index means the Consumer Price Index for all-urban consumers published by the Department of Labor.

CIVIL MONETARY PENALTY INFLATION ADJUSTMENT REPORTS

SEC. 4. The head of each agency shall, not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of the Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996 [Apr. 26, 1996], and at least once every 4 years thereafter
(1) by regulation adjust each civil monetary penalty provided by law within the jurisdiction of the Federal agency, except for any penalty (including any addition to tax and additional amount) under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 [26 U.S.C. 1 et seq.], the Tariff Act of 1930 [19 U.S.C. 1202 et seq.], the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 [20 U.S.C. 651 et seq.], or the Social Security Act [42 U.S.C. 301 et seq.], by the inflation adjustment described under section 5 of this Act [bracketed material in original]; and
(2) publish each such regulation in the Federal Register.

COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENTS OF CIVIL MONETARY PENALTIES

SEC. 5. (a) ADJUSTMENT. The inflation adjustment under section 4 shall be determined by increasing the maximum civil monetary penalty or the range of minimum and maximum civil monetary penalties, as applicable, for each civil monetary penalty by the cost-of-living adjustment. Any increase determined under this subsection shall be rounded to the nearest

(1) multiple of $10 in the case of penalties less than or equal to $100;
(2) multiple of $100 in the case of penalties greater than $100 but less than or equal to $1,000;
(3) multiple of $1,000 in the case of penalties greater than $1,000 but less than or equal to $10,000;
(4) multiple of $5,000 in the case of penalties greater than $10,000 but less than or equal to $100,000;
(5) multiple of $10,000 in the case of penalties greater than $100,000 but less than or equal to $200,000; and
(6) multiple of $25,000 in the case of penalties greater than $200,000.

(b) DEFINITION. For purposes of subsection (a), the term cost-of-living adjustment means the percentage (if any) for each civil monetary penalty by which

(1) the Consumer Price Index for the month of June of the calendar year preceding the adjustment, exceeds
(2) the Consumer Price Index for the month of June of the calendar year in which the amount of such civil monetary penalty was last set or adjusted pursuant to law.
SEC. 6. Any increase under this Act in a civil monetary penalty shall apply only to violations which occur after the date the increase takes effect.

LIMITATION ON INITIAL ADJUSTMENT. The first adjustment of a civil monetary penalty . . . may not exceed 10 percent of such penalty.

§ 11.1 Definitions.

For the purpose of this part, unless the context otherwise requires, the following terms shall have the meanings assigned to them in this section. The singular form shall also impart the plural and the masculine form shall also impart the feminine. Words of art undefined in the following paragraphs shall have the meaning attributed to them by trade usage or general usage as reflected in a standard dictionary, such as Webster’s.

Designated Qualified Person or DQP means a person meeting the requirements specified in § 11.7 of this part who has been licensed as a DQP by a horse industry organization or association having a DQP program certified by the Department and who may be appointed and delegated authority by the management of any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale or horse auction under section 4 of the Act to detect or diagnose horses which are sore or to otherwise inspect horses and any records pertaining to such horses for the purposes of enforcing the Act.

§ 11.7 Certification and licensing of designated qualified persons (DQP s).

(a) Basic qualifications of DQP applicants. DQP s holding a valid, current DQP license issued in accordance with this part may be appointed by the management of any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction, as qualified persons in accordance with section 4(c) of the Act, to inspect horses to detect or diagnose soring and to otherwise inspect horses, or any records pertaining to any horse for the purpose of enforcing the Act. Individuals who may be licensed as DQP's under this part shall be:

   (ii) Large animal practitioners with substantial equine experience, or
   (iii) Knowledgeable in the area of equine lameness as related to soring and soring practices (such as Doctors of Veterinary Medicine with a small animal practice who own, train, judge, or show horses, or Doctors of Veterinary Medicine who teach equine related subjects in an accredited college or school of veterinary medicine). Accredited Doctors of Veterinary Medicine who meet these criteria may be licensed as DQP's by a horse industry organization or association whose DQP program has been certified by the Department under this part without undergoing the formal training requirements set forth in this section.

2. Farriers, horse trainers, and other knowledgeable horsemen whose past experience and training would qualify them for positions as horse industry organization or association stewards or judges (or their equivalent) and who have been formally trained and licensed as DQP's by a horse industry organization or association whose DQP program has been certified by the Department in accordance with this section.

(b) Certification requirements for DQP programs. The Department will not license DQP's on an individual basis. Licensing of DQP's will be accomplished only through DQP programs certified by the Department and initiated and maintained by horse industry organizations or associations. Any horse industry organization or association desiring Department certification to train and license DQP's under the Act shall submit to the Administrator a formal request in writing for certification of its DQP program and a detailed outline of such program for Department approval. Such outline shall include the organizational structure of such organization or association and the names of the officers or persons charged with the management of the organization or association. The outline shall also contain at least the following:

1. The criteria to be used in selecting DQP candidates and the minimum qualifications and knowledge regarding horses each candidate must have in order to be admitted to the program.
(2) A copy of the formal training program, classroom and practical, required to be completed by each DQP candidate before being licensed by such horse industry organization or association, including the minimum number of hours, classroom and practical, and the subject matter of the training program. Requests for instructors to be furnished or recommended must be made to the Administrator in writing at least 30 days prior to such course.

(iii) Four hours of classroom instruction on the history of soring, the physical examination procedures necessary to detect soring, the detection and diagnosis of soring, and related subjects. The instructor teaching the course must be specified and a summary of said instructor's background, experience, and qualifications to teach such course must be provided to the Administrator.

(iv) Four hours of practical instruction in clinics and seminars utilizing live horses with actual application of the knowledge gained in the classroom subjects covered in paragraphs (b)(2)(i), (ii), and (iii) of this section. Methods and procedures required to perform a thorough and uniform examination of a horse shall be included. The names of the instructors and a resume of their background, academic and practical experience, and qualifications to present such instruction shall be provided to the Administrator. Notification of the actual date, time, duration, subject matter, and geographic location of such clinics or seminars must be sent to the Administrator at least 10 days prior to each such clinic or seminar.

(v) One hour of classroom instruction regarding the DQP standards of conduct promulgated by the licensing organization or association pursuant to paragraph (d)(7) of this section.

(vi) One hour of classroom instruction on recordkeeping and reporting requirements and procedures.

(5) The criteria and schedule for a continuing education program and the criteria and methods of monitoring and appraising performance for continued licensing of DQP s by such organization or association. A continuing education program for DQP s shall consist of not less than 4 hours of instruction per year.

(6) Procedures for monitoring horses in the unloading, preparation, warmup, and barn areas, or other such areas. Such monitoring may include any horse that is stabled, loaded on a trailer, being prepared for show, exhibition, sale, or auction, or exercised, or that is otherwise on the grounds of, or present at, any horse show, horse exhibition, or horse sale or auction.

(7) The methods to be used to insure uniform interpretation and enforcement of the Horse Protection Act and regulations by DQP s and uniform procedures for inspecting horses for compliance with the Act and regulations;

(8) Standards of conduct for DQP s promulgated by the organization or association in accordance with paragraph (d)(7) of this section; and

(9) A formal request for Department certification of the DQP program.

The horse industry organizations or associations that have formally requested Department certification of their DQP training, enforcement, and maintenance program will receive a formal notice of certification from the Department, or the reasons, in writing, why certification of such program cannot be approved. A current list of certified DQP programs and licensed DQP s will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at least once each year, and as may be further required for the purpose of deleting programs and names of DQP s that are no longer certified or licensed, and of adding the names of programs and DQP s that have been certified or licensed subsequent to the publication of the previous list.

(c) Licensing of DQP s. Each horse industry organization or association receiving Department certification for the training and licensing of DQP s under the Act shall:

(3) Notify the Department of any additions or deletions of names of licensed DQPs from the licensed DQP list submitted to the Department or of any change in the address of any licensed DQP or any warnings and license revocations issued to any DQP licensed by such horse industry organization or association within 10 days of such change;

(4) Not license any person as a DQP if such person has been convicted of any violation of the Act or regulations occurring after July 13, 1976, or paid any fine or civil penalty in settlement of any proceeding regarding a violation of the Act or regulations occurring after July 13, 1976, for a period of at least 2 years following the first such violation, and for a period of at least 5 years following the second such violation and any subsequent violation;

(5) Not license any person as a DQP until such person has attended and worked two recognized or affiliated horse shows, horse exhibitions, horse sales, or horse auctions as an apprentice DQP and has demonstrated the ability, qualifications, knowledge and integrity required to satisfactorily execute the duties and responsibilities of a DQP;

(6) Not license any person as a DQP if such person has been disqualified by the Secretary from making detection, diagnosis, or inspection for the purpose of enforcing the Act, or if such person’s DQP license is canceled by another horse industry organization or association.

(d) Requirements to be met by DQPs and Licensing Organizations or Associations. (1) Any licensed DQP appointed by the management of any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale or auction to inspect horses for the purpose of detecting and determining or diagnosing horses which are sore and to otherwise inspect horses for the purpose of enforcing the Act and regulations, shall keep and maintain the following information and records concerning any horse which said DQP recommends be disqualified or excused for any reason at such horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale or auction, from being shown, exhibited, sold or auctioned, in a uniform

(viii) The name, age, sex, color, and markings of the horse; and
(ix) The name or names of the show manager or other management representative notified by the DQP that such horse should be excused or disqualified and whether or not such manager or management representative excused or disqualified such horse.

Copies of the above records shall be submitted by the involved DQP to the horse industry organization or association that has licensed said DQP within 72 hours after the horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction is over.

(2) The DQP shall inform the custodian of each horse allegedly found in violation of the Act or its regulations, or disqualified or excused for any other reason, of such action and the specific reasons for such action.

   (i) The name and date of the show, exhibition, sale, or auction.
   (ii) The name of the horse and the reason why said horse was excused, disqualified, or alleged to be in violation of the Act or its regulations.

(5) Each horse industry organization or association having a Department certified DQP program shall provide each of its licensed DQP s with a current list of all persons that have been disqualified by order of the Secretary from showing or exhibiting any horse, or judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction. The Department will make such list available, on a current basis, to organizations and associations maintaining a certified DQP program.

(e) Prohibition of appointment of certain persons to perform duties under the Act. The management of any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction shall not appoint any person to detect and diagnose horses which are sore or to otherwise inspect horses for the purpose of enforcing the Act, if that person:

   (1) Does not hold a valid, current DQP license issued by a horse industry organization or association having a DQP program certified by the Department.

   (2) Has had his DQP license canceled by the licensing organization or association.

   (3) Is disqualified by the Secretary from performing diagnosis, detection, and inspection under the Act, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, when the Secretary finds that such person is unfit to perform such diagnosis, detection, or inspection because he has failed to perform his duties in accordance with the Act or regulations, or because he has been convicted of a violation of any provision of the Act or regulations occurring after July 13, 1976, or has paid any fine or civil penalty in settlement of any proceeding regarding a violation of the Act or regulations occurring after July 13, 1976.

Upon cancellation of his DQP license, the DQP may, within 30 days thereafter, request a hearing before a review committee of not less than three persons appointed by the licensing horse industry organization or association. If the review committee sustains the cancellation of the license, the DQP may appeal the decision of such committee to the Administrator within 30 days from the date of such decision, and the Administrator shall make a final determination in the matter. If the Administrator finds, after providing the DQP whose license has been canceled with a notice and an opportunity for a hearing, that there is sufficient cause for the committee’s determination regarding license cancellation, he shall issue a decision sustaining such determination. If he does not find that there was sufficient cause to cancel the license, the licensing organization or association shall reinstate the license.

(2) Each horse industry organization or association having a Department certified DQP program shall cancel the license of any DQP licensed under its program who has been convicted of any violation of the Act or regulations or of any DQP who has paid a fine or civil penalty in settlement of any alleged violation of the Act or regulations if such alleged violation occurred after July 13, 1976.

(g) Revocation of DQP program certification of horse industry organizations or associations. Any horse industry organization or association having a Department certified DQP program that has not received Department approval of the inspection procedures provided for in paragraph (b)(6) of this section, or that otherwise fails to comply with the requirements contained in this section, may have such certification of its DQP program revoked, unless, upon written notification from the Department of such failure to comply with the requirements in this section, such organization or association takes immediate action to rectify such failure and takes appropriate steps to prevent a recurrence of such noncompliance within the time period specified in the Department notification, or otherwise adequately explains such failure to comply to the satisfaction of the Department. Any horse industry organization or association whose DQP program certification has been revoked may appeal such revocation to the Administrator in writing within 30 days after the date of such revocation and, if requested, shall be afforded an opportunity for a hearing. All DQP licenses issued by a horse industry organization or association whose DQP program certification has been revoked shall expire 30 days after the date of such revocation, or 15 days after the date the revocation becomes final after appeal, unless they are transferred to a horse industry organization or association having a program currently certified by the Department.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Respondent is an individual who resides and has his place of business in Norman, Oklahoma. Respondent has been a full-time physician practicing for 32 years and is director of medical services at the Norman Regional Hospital, in Norman, Oklahoma, where he was in charge of the Emergency Department for 29 years. Respondent was elected by his peers to serve as chief-of-staff at Norman Regional Hospital in 1992. In addition, Respondent has served his community for many years, including a seat on the board of directors for the United Way for 6 years. (Answer ¶ 1; RX D, RX E, RX F.)

2. Respondent purchased Missy in December 1995 and placed her in training at the David Landrum Stables where she remained for approximately 1 year. Her trainer at the David Landrum Stables, Link Webb, left the David Landrum Stables and took Missy with him. Because Mr. Webb was having trouble getting Missy to canter, he suggested that Respondent move Missy to Young’s Stables to be trained by Ronal Young, which Respondent did in August 1997. At the time of the violation alleged in the Complaint, Missy lived at Young’s Stables in Lewisberg, Tennessee, and thus resided hundreds of miles from Respondent’s residence and place of business. Ronal Young was Missy’s trainer from August 1997 to approximately February 1999. (CX 2, CX 4 at 1; Tr. 151-52, 174-76, 187.)
3. During the period that Respondent owned Missy, the trainers hired by Respondent showed Missy in horse shows approximately 25 times and, until the violation alleged in the Complaint, Missy had not been found to be sore (CX 4 at 1; Tr. 151, 161-62).

4. Respondent made clear to each trainer that he only purchased horses that walked naturally, in other words they did not need to be sored (Tr. 150-52, 170-71).

5. On September 4, 1998, Respondent owned Missy (CX 4 at 1; Tr. 182, 185). On September 4, 1998, Missy’s trainer, Ronal Young, entered Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration in Shelbyville, Tennessee, for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy at the show (CX 1 at 3, CX 4; Tr. 19-20, 189).

6. On September 4, 1998, Mark Thomas and Ira Gladney, Designated Qualified Persons,¹ inspected Missy just prior to her scheduled participation in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration and disqualified her from being shown or exhibited based upon her general appearance, locomotion, and reaction to palpation (CX 3b at 1, CX 3c; RX A; Tr. 51-52, 67, 69).

¹A Designated Qualified Person or DQP is an individual appointed by the management of a horse show and trained under a United States Department of Agriculture-sponsored program to inspect horses for compliance with the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1823; 9 C.F.R. §§ 11.1, .7).
7. On September 4, 1998, Dr. John Michael Guerdon and Dr. Ruth E. Bakker, veterinary medical officers employed by the United States Department of Agriculture, examined Missy when she was entered in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration and found her to be sore as that term is defined in the Horse Protection Act\(^2\) (CX 3a, CX 3b, CX 3c, CX 4 at 2; Tr. 46-56, 85, 130-39). Respondent concedes Missy was sore when Ronal Young entered Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy at the show (CX 4; Tr. 152-53, 155, 161-62).

8. When Respondent first attended the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration, Respondent did not know Missy was at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Respondent first became aware that Ronal Young planned to show Missy when Ronal Young’s wife, Judy Young, approached Respondent in the stands at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration and informed Respondent that Missy had been turned down during a pre-show inspection. Respondent was at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration to see two of his other horses, Silver Dollar and A Shot of Gen. Upon being told Missy had not passed inspection, Respondent attempted to find Ronal Young and Missy but discovered they had both left the grounds. When Respondent confronted Ronal Young the next day, Ronal Young assured Respondent that what had happened did not involve Respondent and Respondent should not worry. (CX 4 at 2; Tr. 152-53, 169, 194-95.)

9. Notwithstanding the distance which existed between Respondent's place of business and residence and Young's Stables, Respondent made unannounced visits to Young's Stables and never found Missy to be sore. During these visits to Young's Stables, Missy's gait appeared to Respondent to be free, flowing, and natural. (Tr. 152-53, 170.)

10. Before employing Ronal Young to board, train, and show Missy, Respondent talked to other trainers to determine whether Ronal Young had previously entered or exhibited a sore horse (Tr. 162-63, 171, 173, 176). Ronal Young had previously been cited for violating the Horse Protection Act, which information was available to Respondent from the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (Tr. 212-14, 220-23). However, during the period material to this proceeding, Respondent did not know about Ronal Young's previous citation for violating the Horse Protection Act, and Respondent was unaware of a way to have found that information or to have checked Ronal Young's record (Tr. 162-63, 171, 176-77).

11. Respondent did not maintain control over the training methods which he expected Ronal Young to select and employ when training Missy (CX 4 at 2). Respondent testified that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore or otherwise abuse Missy (Tr. 150-52, 170-71, 194-95). Ronal Young admitted in a written statement that Respondent advised him to refrain from soring Missy or from doing any act which might make Missy be in violation of the Horse Protection Act (RX B). Tim Gray, another trainer hired by Respondent, also submitted a written statement which supports Respondent's testimony that he instructed trainers not to sore his horses (RX C).

12. Respondent continued to employ Ronal Young to board, train, and show Missy for approximately 6 months after Ronal Young entered Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration while she was sore (Tr. 174-76, 187).

DISCUSSION

Congress found the soring of horses is cruel and inhumane and horses shown or exhibited which are sore, where such soreness improves the performance... , compete unfairly with horses which are not sore. 3 Congress made it unlawful to: (1) show or exhibit a sore horse in any horse show or horse exhibition; (2) enter for the purpose of showing or exhibiting a sore horse in any horse show or horse exhibition; or (3) allow the showing or exhibition of a sore horse in any horse show or horse exhibition.4 The term sore describes a horse, which, as a result of the use of a substance or practice, suffers, or can reasonably be expected to suffer, physical pain or distress, inflammation, or lameness when walking, trotting, or otherwise moving.

To prove a violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)), Complainant must establish by a preponderance of evidence that: (1) the person charged is the owner of the horse in question; (2) the horse was shown, exhibited, or entered in a horse show or exhibition; (3) the horse was sore at the time it was shown, exhibited, or entered; and (4) the owner allowed the showing, exhibition, or entry.

Respondent admits he owned Missy on September 4, 1998 (Answer ¶ 2). Complainant presented evidence sufficient to raise the statutory presumption\(^7\) that Missy was sore on September 4, 1998, when Ronal Young entered Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy. Complainant proved by a preponderance of the evidence that Missy was sore as that term is defined in the Horse Protection Act\(^8\) (CX 3a, CX 3b, CX 3c, CX 4 at 2; Tr. 46-56, 85, 130-39). Respondent failed to present evidence sufficient to rebut either Complainant's \textit{prima facie} case or the statutory presumption. Respondent concedes that Missy was sore when Ronal Young, the trainer

Missy at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration (CX 4 at 2; Tr. 152-53, 155, 161-62).

The issue in this case is whether Respondent allowed the entry of Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration, while she was sore, and thus violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)).

The United States Department of Agriculture has long held that a horse owner who allows a person to enter the owner’s horse in a horse show or horse exhibition for the purpose of showing or exhibiting the horse is a guarantor that the horse will not be sore when the horse is entered in that horse show or horse exhibition. The evidence establishes that Respondent did not know that Ronal Young entered Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration until he was informed by Judy

Young that Missy had been turned down (CX 4 at 2; Tr. 152-53). Nonetheless, the record is clear that Respondent allowed Ronal Young to enter Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Respondent testified that trainers who Respondent hired, including Ronal Young, entered Missy in horse shows and horse exhibitions approximately 25 times before September 4, 1998, and Ronal Young entered Missy in at least two horse shows or horse exhibitions after September 4, 1998 (Tr. 151, 174-75). The record contains no evidence that Respondent objected to his trainers entering Missy in horse shows or horse exhibitions, and, specifically, the record contains no evidence that Respondent objected to Ronal Young's entering Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy in that horse show. Moreover, Respondent does not contend that he did not allow Ronal Young to enter Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Under these circumstances, Respondent was a guarantor that Missy would not be sore when Ronal Young entered Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Complainant proved by a preponderance of the evidence that Missy was sore when Ronal Young entered Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Thus, Respondent breached his guarantee as a horse owner that Ronal Young (a person who Respondent hired to board, train, and show Missy and a person allowed by Respondent to enter Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration) would not enter Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy while she was sore. Based upon Respondent's breach of this guarantee, I conclude that, on September 4, 1998, Respondent allowed the entry of Missy for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration in Shelbyville, Tennessee, while Missy was sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). Respondent cannot escape liability for a violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)) based on his credible testimony that, prior to the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration, he did not have actual knowledge that Ronal Young would enter Missy in the show or based on his credible testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy.

Respondent urges that I refrain from applying the United States Department of Agriculture's test to determine whether he violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). Instead, Respondent requests that I apply the tests to determine whether a horse owner has violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)) which have been adopted by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit, as follows:
[BY DR. McCLOY:]

In summary, I wish the facts of this case would be considered in the case -- in the light of other cases, Baird v USDA, 39 Fed 3d 131 at the Sixth Circuit; Burton v USDA, 683 Fed 2d 280 in the Eighth Circuit; and Lewis v the Secretary of Agriculture, 73 Fed 3d 312 in the Eleventh Circuit.

I believe if one looks at the evidence in this case with respect to these cases, that the hearing would result in a defense verdict.

Tr. 195.

However, the tests adopted by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit are inapposite. Respondent may obtain judicial review of this Decision and Order in the court of appeals of the United States for the circuit in which Respondent resides or has his place of business or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. Respondent does not reside in or have his place of business in the Sixth Circuit, the Eighth Circuit, or the Eleventh Circuit. Instead, the record establishes that Respondent resides in and has his place of business in Oklahoma (Compl. ¶ 1; Answer ¶ 1; RX D). Therefore, Respondent may obtain judicial review of this Decision and Order in the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

Respondent does not cite and I cannot locate any decision by the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit in which the Court addresses the test to be used to determine whether a horse owner has violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit has addressed the test to be used to determine whether a horse owner has violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)) and has specifically rejected the test adopted by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit and the test adopted by the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, as follows:

That brings us to petitioner’s second argument: that on the facts presented, the Department could not conclude that petitioner allowed the entry of a sore horse. This textual argument turns on the meaning of the word allow. The Department contends that an owner can always prevent a horse from being sored, and that therefore an owner is liable if her horse is entered, showed, or exhibited while sore. Petitioner, on the other hand, maintains that the word allow necessarily implies knowledge of the sore condition, or at least requires proof of circumstances that would alert the owner that someone, normally, we would suppose, the trainer was soring the horse. In this case, it will be recalled, the petitioner testified, without contradiction, that she instructed the trainer not to sore the horse. Petitioner accuses the Department of interpreting the word allow so as to create absolute liability for an owner regardless of the circumstances that caused a horse’s soreness.

This issue has generated much discussion and concern in our fellow circuits. The Eighth Circuit, Burton v. United States Dep’t of Agriculture, 683 F.2d 280, 282-83 (8th Cir. 1982), and the Sixth Circuit, Baird v. United States Dep’t of Agriculture, 39 F.3d 131, 137-38 (6th Cir. 1994), have rejected the Department’s interpretation and have held that if an owner produced uncontradicted evidence that he or she instructed a trainer not to sore the horse, the Department must in turn show that the instruction was a ruse or that the owner nevertheless had knowledge that the horse was sore. Compare Thornton v. United States Dep’t of Agriculture, 715 F.2d 1508, 1511-12 (11th Cir. 1983); see also Stamper v. Secretary of Agriculture, 722 F.2d 1483, 1488-89 (9th Cir. 1984).
We respectfully disagree with our sister circuits who have required the Department to produce evidence rebutting an owner’s prophylactic instruction. Congress did not state that an owner is liable if she authorizes or causes a horse to be sored. The word allow is a good deal softer, more passive, and it can have varying meanings, e.g., to permit by neglecting to restrain or prevent, or to make a possibility: provide opportunity or basis or (most strongly) to intend or plan. Webster’s Third New International Dictionary 58 (1971). Since the word is ambiguous, we are obliged under Chevron U.S.A. Inc. v. Natural Resources Defense Council Inc., 467 U.S. 837, 842-43, 104 S. Ct. 2778, 2781-82, 81 L.Ed.2d 694 (1984), to defer to the Department’s interpretation of the term (so long as reasonable), which we take to be among the weaker ones in Webster’s, to permit by neglecting to restrain or prevent. Accordingly, if an owner enters or shows a sore horse, the Department assumes that he or she has not prevented someone in his or her employ from soring the horse. And, by itself, testimony that the owner instructed the trainer not to sore the horse will not exculpate the owner. In so concluding, the Department merely takes into account the obvious proposition that the owner has the power to control his or her agents.

The Sixth Circuit recognized (in a footnote) that Chevron governed review of the Department’s interpretation, but concluded the Department’s interpretation was unreasonable. Baird, 39 F.3d at 137 n. 10. The court looked to Black’s Law Dictionary, which does state that allow has no rigid or precise meaning but then goes on to say, [t]o sanction, either directly or indirectly, as opposed to merely suffering a thing to be done (even that dictionary does, in a contradictory fashion, submit as an alternative, to suffer; to tolerate). From that language the court concluded that

*[A]s the above definition makes clear, there are basically two ways to allow something to happen: either directly, e.g., explicitly condoning or authorizing the conduct or act in question; or indirectly, e.g., by failing to prevent such conduct or act in other words, by looking the other way or by burying one’s head in the sand. . . . Liability would follow in this latter instance if, for example, an owner had cultivated a training atmosphere conducive to soring, or had done nothing to dissuade the practice, knowing the tactics of* his trainers in particular and/or the pervasiveness of the practice in general.

_Baird v. U.S. Dep't of Agriculture_, 39 F.3d at 137.

The Sixth Circuit's interpretation of the language is certainly plausible, but we do not agree with its conclusion that the Department's interpretation is unreasonable or is functionally equivalent to the imposition of absolute liability. The Department merely holds the owner responsible for the actions of her agents (particularly the trainer) and will not permit the owner to escape liability by testifying that she instructed a trainer not to sore. It might well be an entirely different case we have been able to find none if an owner were able to show that a horse was sored by a stranger or someone not under the owner's control. And, it is of course conceivable that a trainer would flatly disobey an owner's instruction. If an owner produced such evidence together, presumably, with a showing that the trainer had been terminated it might well be that the Department could not conclude reasonably that the owner allowed the entry of a sore horse. That is not this case, however, and that apparently has not been the pattern of most of these cases.

The Sixth Circuit recognized the government's concern that an owner could easily offer evidence of a prophylactic instruction without real fear of contradiction (trainers would be unlikely to cross the owners), but the court concluded that this risk was simply a hazard of litigation: the government still had the burden of disproving the sincerity of the instruction. _Baird_, 39 F.3d at 138 n. 11. That amounts to putting an enormous burden and expense on the Administrator to establish how the horse came to be sored, a burden that would be required if the statute called for a sanction if an owner caused or authorized the soring. Since the statute uses the term allow (i.e., permit, or does not prevent), we do not think the Administrator must shoulder such a task just because the owner produces evidence of her instruction to the trainer. After all, the instruction is not introduced to establish that the horse was not sore but rather to relieve the owner of any responsibility for the soreness. Yet the instruction, by itself, even were it deemed totally sincere, is not necessarily inconsistent with the proposition that the owner permitted for example, through neglect or lack of vigilance the horse to be sored. It is unimaginable that an owner would be unfamiliar with soring practices generally, as well as the Department's enforcement efforts, therefore if an owner’s horse were sored, notwithstanding her instruction, she could be said to have put her head in the sand unless something quite extraordinary occurred.

The Department apparently believes that an owner can and must do a good deal more than simply give the bare instruction to be thought to have prevented her own horse from being entered in a sore condition. The issue does not involve so much an allocation of burdens, as the Sixth Circuit thought, but rather the weight the Department must give to evidence of the owner’s instruction in light of the Department’s interpretation of the statute. We do not think, in that context, it is unreasonable for the Department to conclude that such an instruction will not exculpate an owner for the statutory responsibility for allowing the entry of a sore horse.

Based on the test in Crawford, I conclude that Respondent allowed the entry of Missy for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration while Missy was sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). Respondent hired Ronal Young to train Missy in August 1997 and Respondent retained Ronal Young as Missy’s trainer until approximately February 1999. During this period, Respondent allowed Ronal Young to enter Missy in a number of horse shows or horse exhibitions, including the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Respondent had the power to control his trainer and under Crawford, Respondent’s testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy does not permit Respondent to escape liability for his violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)).
Moreover, even if I were to apply the test adopted by the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit or the test adopted by the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit to determine whether Respondent violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)), as Respondent urges, I would not dismiss the Complaint. The United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit in Burton held, as follows:

[W]e hold that the owner cannot be held to have allowed a sore horse to be shown [in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)] when the following three factors are shown to exist: (1) there is a finding that the owner had no knowledge that the horse was in a sore condition, (2) there is a finding that a Designated Qualified Person examined and approved the horse before entering the ring, and (3) there was uncontradicted testimony that the owner had directed the trainer not to show a sore horse. All of these factors taken together are sufficient to excuse an owner from liability.

Burton v. United States Dep't of Agric., 683 F.2d 280, 283 (8th Cir. 1982).

The United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit in Lewis adopted Burton with the caveat that the owner's directions to the trainer not to show a sore horse must be meaningful, as follows:

The caveat we put on Burton relates to the third factor. Compliance with it (along with the other two factors), frees the owner of the ineluctable consequences of entry plus the fact of soreness and it frees him of being found to allow in the passive sense described in Baird by hiding his head or doing nothing. But compliance with the third element must be meaningful rather than purely formal or ritualistic. The owner may give firm and certain and suitably repeated directions not to sore and not to show a horse that is in a sore condition. He may maintain a training environment that discourages soring or makes it impossible. He may carry out inspection practices that tend to reveal any efforts to sore. But, whatever the form, his efforts must be meaningful and not a mere formalistic evasion.

Lewis v. Secretary of Agric., 73 F.3d 312, 317 (11th Cir. 1996).
The evidence clearly establishes that on September 4, 1998, two Designated Qualified Persons examined Missy during a pre-show inspection at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration and disqualified her from showing based upon her general appearance, locomotion, and reaction to palpation (CX 3b at 1, CX 3c; RX A; Tr. 51-52, 67, 69). The record contains no evidence that any Designated Qualified Person examined and approved Missy for showing or exhibition at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Therefore, Respondent does not meet the requirement in Burton and Lewis that a Designated Qualified Person examine and approve the horse before the horse enters the ring.

However, if I were to apply the test adopted by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit in Baird, I would dismiss the Complaint against Respondent. The Sixth Circuit sets forth the test to determine whether an owner has allowed the entry of the owner's horse while the horse was sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)), as follows:

In our view, the government must, as an initial matter, make out a prima facie case of a § 1824(2)(D) violation. It may do so by establishing (1) ownership; (2) showing, exhibition, or entry; and (3) soreness. If the government establishes a prima facie case, the owner may then offer evidence that he took an affirmative step in an effort to prevent the soring that occurred. Assuming the owner presents such evidence and the evidence is justifiably credited, it is up to the government then to prove that the admonitions the owner directed to his trainers concerning the soring of horses constituted merely a pretext or a self-serving ruse designed to mask what is in actuality conduct violative of § 1824.

Baird v. United States Dep’t of Agric., 39 F.3d 131, 137 (6th Cir. 1994) (footnote omitted).

In Baird, the affirmative step to prevent the soring that occurred was the horse owner’s direction to his trainers that his horses were not to be sored and his warning that he would take the horses away from trainers he suspected of soring his horses. The Court in Baird held that the horse owner’s testimony alone, absent evidence to refute it, was sufficient to show that the horse owner did not allow his trainers to enter and exhibit his horses while sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). Baird v. United States Dep’t of Agric., 39 F.3d at 138.

Respondent testified that he took affirmative steps to prevent the soring of Missy. Specifically, Respondent testified that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy. Moreover, Respondent introduced Ronal Young’s written statement (RX B) which corroborates Respondent’s testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy. Complainant did not prove that Respondent’s admonitions directed to Ronal Young concerning the soring of Missy constituted merely a pretext or a self-serving ruse designed to mask what is in actuality conduct violative of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). However, again, I note that Respondent cannot obtain judicial review by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit and _Baird_ is inapposite.

CONCLUSION OF LAW

On September 4, 1998, Respondent allowed the entry of Missy for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration in Shelbyville, Tennessee, while Missy was sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)).

SANCTION

Section 6(b)(1) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(b)(1)) authorizes the assessment of a civil penalty of not more than $2,000 for each violation of section 5 of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824). However, pursuant to the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act of 1990, as amended (28 U.S.C. § 2461 note), the Secretary of Agriculture, by regulation effective September 2, 1997, adjusted the civil monetary penalty that may be assessed under section 6(b)(1) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(b)(1)) for each violation of section 5 of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824) by increasing the maximum civil penalty from $2,000 to $2,200.\(^\text{11}\)

The Horse Protection Act also authorizes the disqualification of any person assessed a civil penalty, from showing or exhibiting any horse or judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction. The Horse Protection Act provides minimum periods of disqualification of not less than 1 year for a first violation and not less than 5 years for any subsequent violation.12

Congress has recognized the seriousness of soring horses. The legislative history of the Horse Protection Act Amendments of 1976 reveals the cruel and inhumane nature of soring horses, the unfair competitive aspects of soring, and the destructive effect of soring on the horse industry, as follows:

NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The inhumanity of the practice of soring horses and its destructive effect upon the horse industry led Congress to pass the Horse Protection Act of 1970 (Public Law 91-540, December 9, 1970). The 1970 law was intended to end the unnecessary, cruel and inhumane practice of soring horses by making unlawful the exhibiting and showing of sored horses and imposing significant penalties for violations of the Act. It was intended to prohibit the showing of sored horses and thereby destroy the incentive of owners and trainers to painfully mistreat their horses.

The practice of soring involved the alteration of the gait of a horse by the infliction of pain through the use of devices, substances, and other quick and artificial methods instead of through careful breeding and patient training. A horse may be made sore by applying a blistering agent, such as oil or mustard, to the postem area of a horse’s limb, or by using various action or training devices such as heavy chains or knocker boots on the horse’s limbs. When a horse’s front limbs are deliberately made sore, the intense pain suffered by the animal when the forefeet touch the ground causes the animal to quickly lift its feet and thrust them forward. Also, the horse reaches further with its hindfeet in an effort to take weight off its front feet, thereby lessening the pain. The soring of a horse can produce the high-stepping gait of the well-known Tennessee Walking Horse as well as other popular gaited horse breeds. Since the passage of the 1970 act, the bleeding horse has almost disappeared but soring continues almost unabated. Devious soring methods have been developed that cleverly mask visible evidence of soring. In addition the sore area may not necessarily be visible to the naked eye.

The practice of soring is not only cruel and inhumane. The practice also results in unfair competition and can ultimately damage the integrity of the breed. A mediocre horse whose high-stepping gait is achieved artificially by soring suffers from pain and inflammatory damage of its limbs and competes unfairly with a properly and patiently trained sound horse with championship natural ability. Horses that attain championship status are exceptionally valuable as breeding stock, particularly if the champion is a stallion. Consequently, if champions continue to be created by soring, the breed’s natural gait abilities cannot be preserved. If the widespread soring of horses is allowed to continue, properly bred and trained champion horses would probably diminish significantly in value since it is difficult for them to compete on an equal basis with sored horses.

Testimony given before the Subcommittee on Health and the Environment demonstrated conclusively that despite the enactment of the Horse Protection Act of 1970, the practice of soring has continued on a widespread basis. Several witnesses testified that the intended effect of the law was vitiated by a combination of factors, including statutory limitations on enforcement authority, lax enforcement methods, and limited resources available to the Department of Agriculture to carry out the law.

The United States Department of Agriculture’s sanction policy is set forth in In re S.S. Farms Linn County, Inc. (Decision as to James Joseph Hickey and Shannon Hansen), 50 Agric. Dec. 476, 497 (1991), aff’d, 991 F.2d 803, 1993 WL 128889 (9th Cir. 1993) (not to be cited as precedent under the 9th Circuit Rule 36-3), as follows:

[T]he sanction in each case will be determined by examining the nature of the violations in relation to the remedial purposes of the regulatory statute involved, along with all relevant circumstances, always giving appropriate weight to the recommendations of the administrative officials charged with the responsibility for achieving the congressional purpose.

Section 6(b)(1) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(b)(1)) provides that in determining the amount of the civil penalty, the Secretary of Agriculture shall take into account all factors relevant to such determination, including the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the prohibited conduct and, with respect to the person found to have engaged in such conduct, the degree of culpability, and any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, effect on ability to continue to do business, and such other matters as justice may require.

Complainant recommends that I assess Respondent a $2,200 civil penalty (Complainant’s Post-Hearing Brief at 26-27). The extent and gravity of Respondent’s prohibited conduct are great. Two United States Department of Agriculture veterinary medical officers found Missy extremely sore. Dr. John Michael Guedron described Missy’s pain responses to his examination of her left leg and foot and right leg and foot as strong (CX 3b at 1-2), and Dr. Ruth E. Bakker described Missy’s pain responses to her examination of Missy’s right forelimb and left forelimb as pronounced (CX 3c at 2).

Before employing Ronal Young to board, train, and show Missy, Respondent made no attempt, other than talking to other trainers, to determine whether Ronal Young had previously entered or exhibited a sore horse (Tr. 162-63, 171, 173, 176). Ronal Young had previously been cited for violating the Horse Protection Act, which information was available to Respondent from the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service
(Tr. 212-14, 220-23). However, during the period material to this proceeding, Respondent did not know about Ronal Young’s previous citation for violating the Horse Protection Act, and Respondent was unaware of a way to have found that information or to have checked Ronal Young’s record (Tr.162-63, 171, 176-77). While Respondent did not maintain control over the training methods which he expected Ronal Young to select and employ when training Missy, Respondent instructed Ronal Young not to sore or otherwise abuse Missy and made several unannounced visits to Young’s Stables to determine how Missy was being treated (CX 4; Tr. 150-53, 170-71, 194-95). Weighing all the circumstances, I find Respondent is culpable, but not highly culpable, for the violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)).

Respondent presented no evidence that he is unable to pay a $2,200 civil penalty. Further, Respondent is a physician and a $2,200 civil penalty would not adversely affect Respondent’s ability to continue in business.

In most Horse Protection Act cases, the maximum civil penalty per violation has been warranted. Based on the factors that are required to be considered when determining the amount of the civil penalty to be assessed and the recommendation of administrative officials charged with responsibility for achieving the congressional purpose of the Horse Protection Act, I find no basis for an exception to the United States Department of Agriculture’s policy of assessing the maximum civil penalty for each violation of the Horse Protection Act. Therefore, I assess Respondent a $2,200 civil penalty.

Section 6(c) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(c)) provides that any person assessed a civil penalty under section 6(b) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(b)) may be disqualified from showing or exhibiting any horse, and from judging or managing any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction for a period of not less than 1 year for the first violation of the Horse Protection Act and for a period of not less than 5 years for any subsequent violation of the Horse Protection Act.

The purpose of the Horse Protection Act is to prevent the cruel practice of soring horses. Congress amended the Horse Protection Act in 1976 to enhance the Secretary of

Agriculture’s ability to end soring of horses. Among the most notable devices to accomplish this end is the authorization for disqualification which Congress specifically added to provide a strong deterrent to violations of the Horse Protection Act by those persons who have the economic means to pay civil penalties as a cost of doing business.\textsuperscript{14}

Section 6(c) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(c)) specifically provides that disqualification is in addition to any civil penalty assessed under section 6(b) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(b)). While section 6(b)(1) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1825(b)(1)) requires that the Secretary of Agriculture consider certain specified factors when determining the amount of the civil penalty to be assessed for a violation of the Horse Protection Act, the Horse Protection Act contains no such requirement with respect to the imposition of a disqualification period.

While disqualification is discretionary with the Secretary of Agriculture, the imposition of a disqualification period, in addition to the assessment of a civil penalty, has been recommended by administrative officials charged with responsibility for achieving the congressional purpose of the Horse Protection Act and the Judicial Officer has held that disqualification, in addition to the assessment of a civil penalty, is appropriate in almost every Horse Protection Act case, including those cases in which a respondent is found to have violated the Horse Protection Act for the first time.\textsuperscript{15}

Congress has provided the United States Department of Agriculture with the tools needed to eliminate the practice of soring Tennessee Walking Horses, but those tools must be used to be effective. In order to achieve the congressional purpose of the Horse Protection Act, it would seem necessary to impose at least the minimum disqualification provisions of the 1976 amendments on any person who violates section 5 of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824).

Circumstances in a particular case might justify a departure from this policy. Since it is clear under the 1976 amendments that intent and knowledge are not elements of a violation, there are few circumstances warranting an exception from this policy, but the facts and circumstances of each case must be examined to determine whether an exception to this policy is warranted. An examination of the record before me does not lead me to believe that an exception from the usual practice of imposing the minimum disqualification period for the first violation of the Horse Protection Act, in addition to the assessment of a civil penalty, is warranted.

COMPLAINANT’S APPEAL PETITION

Complainant raises 12 issues in Complainant’s Petition for Appeal of Decision and Order [hereinafter Complainant’s Appeal Petition]. First, Complainant contends the ALJ’s finding that Respondent’s testimony is credible, is error (Complainant’s Appeal Pet. at 3-6).

The Judicial Officer is not bound by an administrative law judge’s credibility determinations and may make separate determinations of witnesses’ credibility, subject only to court review for substantial evidence. Mattes v. United States, 721 F.2d 1125, 1128-29 (7th Cir. 1983). The Administrative Procedure Act provides that, on appeal from an administrative law judge's initial decision, the agency has all the powers it would have in making an initial decision, as follows:

§ 557. Initial decisions; conclusiveness; review by agency; submissions by parties; contents of decisions; record

(b) When the agency did not preside at the reception of the evidence, the presiding employee or, in cases not subject to section 554(d) of this title, an employee qualified to preside at hearings pursuant to section 556 of this title, shall initially decide the case unless the agency requires, either in specific cases or by general rule, the entire record to be certified to it for decision. When the presiding employee makes an initial decision, that decision then becomes the decision of the agency without further proceedings unless there is an appeal to, or review on motion of, the agency within time provided by rule. On appeal from or review of the initial decision, the agency has all the powers which it would have in making the initial decision except as it may limit the issues on notice or by rule.

Moreover, the ATTORNEY GENERAL'S MANUAL ON THE ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE ACT describes the authority of the agency on review of an initial or recommended decision, as follows:

Appeals and review. . . .

In making its decision, whether following an initial or recommended decision, the agency is in no way bound by the decision of its subordinate officer; it retains complete freedom of decision as though it had heard the evidence itself. This follows from the fact that a recommended decision is advisory in nature. See National Labor Relations Board v. Elkland Leather Co., 114 F.2d 221, 225 (C.C.A. 3, 1940), certiorari denied, 311 U.S. 705.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S MANUAL ON THE ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE ACT 83 (1947).
However, the consistent practice of the Judicial Officer is to give great weight to the findings by, and particularly the credibility determinations of, administrative law judges, since they have the opportunity to see and hear witnesses testify.\textsuperscript{17}

Complainant contends the ALJ based her credibility finding on Respondent's testimony that he affirmatively gave the trainer instructions regarding the non-abuse of his horses which included soring (Initial Decision and Order at 5) but Respondent never testified that he gave Ronal Young any instruction not to sore Missy (Complainant's Appeal Pet. at 6-7). I disagree with Complainant's contention that Respondent never testified that he gave Ronal Young instructions not to sore Missy. Respondent testified that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy, as follows:

[BY D.R. McCLOY:]

Ebonys Threats Miss Professor was purchased in January of 95. She went directly to David Landrum's [phonetic] stables. She then, when Link Webb left David Landrum, went with Link Webb. As I mentioned, we were unable to get the horse to canter and Link felt that Ronal Young would be the person to do that, so I called Ronal about August of 97, having had no contact with Ronal since then.

Once again, I told Ronal that the training -- the reason the horse was moved to him was because it would not canter. Its show record was excellent in terms of a flat walk and a running walk. There was no need to sore the horse, but I did expect him to stay in compliance with the Horse Protection Act, and he understood that.

[BY MS. CARROLL:]

Q. And then you are here testifying that you informed Mr. Young not to sore your horse?

[BY D.R. McCLOY:]

A. I informed Mr. Young to not sore the horse.

Q. Okay.

A. I wanted the horse in compliance with the Horse Protection Act and I did not want to own a horse that had to be sored.

Q. And --

A. And I've told all trainers that.

Tr. 151-52, 170-71.

Moreover, Respondent's testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy is corroborated by Ronal Young's written statement in which he states [w]hen
Dr. McCloy placed Miss Ebony's Threat's Professor in training with me, he specifically advised me to refrain from soring his horse or from doing any act which might make his horse in violation of the Horse Protection Act (RX B).

Complainant further contends the ALJ cannot both find Respondent credible and conclude Respondent violated the Horse Protection Act (Complainant's Appeal Pet. at 7-11). I disagree with Complainant's contention that the ALJ cannot find Respondent credible and conclude Respondent violated the Horse Protection Act. Respondent owned Missy at all times material to this proceeding. Respondent retained Ronal Young to board, train, and show Missy from August 1997 to approximately February 1999.
Respondent allowed Ronal Young to enter Missy in horse shows, including the 60th Young entered Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy at the show while Missy was sore. (CX 1 at 3, CX 2, CX 3a, CX 3b, CX 3c, CX 4; Tr. 19-20, 46-56, 85, 130-39, 151-52, 174-76, 182, 185, 187, 189.) The United States Department of Agriculture holds that a horse owner who allows a person to enter the owner's horse in a horse show or horse exhibition for the purpose of showing or exhibiting the horse is a guarantor that the horse will not be sore when the horse is entered in that horse show or horse exhibition. By itself, credible 18See note 9.

horse will not exculpate the owner from a violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). Therefore, the ALJ could find credible Respondent's testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy and at the same time conclude Respondent allowed the entry of Missy for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy as entry number 654 in class number 121 at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration, while Missy was sore, in violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)).

Complainant further contends the ALJ's finding that Respondent's testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy is credible ignores statements in Respondent's own affidavit and Michael Ray's testimony (Complainant's Appeal Pet. at 11-13).

Respondent states in his affidavit I have given Mr. Young no verbal or written instructions concerning the training of Ebonys Threats. Mr. Young was given complete custody in training the horse. (CX 4 at 2.) Michael Ray, an investigator employed by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, testified that he prepared Respondent's affidavit based on his interview of Respondent. Michael Ray further testified that, when he asked Respondent about the instructions he had given to Ronal Young, Respondent stated he gave no instructions to Ronal Young. (Tr. 8-10.) Respondent's affidavit appears to be inconsistent with Respondent's testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy and this apparent inconsistency causes me some doubt about the ALJ's credibility determination. However, Respondent testified that what he meant in his affidavit was that he gave Ronal Young no instructions regarding legal and non-abusive methods of training Missy (Tr. 194). Moreover, Ronal Young’s written statement (RX B) corroborates Respondent’s testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy. The ALJ found Respondent credible, and, in light of Respondent’s explanation, Ronal Young’s written statement, and the great weight I give to the ALJ’s credibility determination, I do not set aside the ALJ’s credibility determination based on the apparent conflict between Respondent’s testimony and Respondent’s affidavit.

Second, Complainant states he does not see why the ALJ would express surprise about Complainant’s characterization of Respondent’s testimony as self-serving (Complainant’s Appeal Pet. at 13-14).

The ALJ states Complainant’s characterization of Respondent’s testimony is surprising, as follows:

The Complainant seeks to show that Dr. McCloy cannot be believed. In furtherance of its theory that Dr. McCloy allowed the entry, the Government claims that his testimony is self-serving, and not credible. It is surprising the Government would say this.

Initial Decision and Order at 8.

The record does not reveal the reasons for the ALJ’s surprise about Complainant’s characterization of Respondent’s testimony; therefore, I am not able to provide Complainant with the reasons for the ALJ’s surprise. However, the reasons for the ALJ’s surprise have no bearing on the disposition of this proceeding. Therefore, I do not remand this proceeding to the ALJ to provide the reasons for her surprise regarding Complainant’s characterization of Respondent’s testimony. Moreover, I am not surprised by Complainant’s characterization of Respondent’s testimony as self-serving.
Therefore, I do not adopt the ALJ’s expression of surprise.

Third, Complainant contends the ALJ erroneously states it is Respondent’s obligation and duty to explain what occurred (Complainant’s Appeal Pet. at 14).

The ALJ states that it is Respondent’s obligation and duty to explain what occurred (Initial Decision and Order at 8). Neither the Administrative Procedure Act nor the Rules of Practice requires a respondent to testify and explain what occurred. Therefore, I agree with Complainant’s contention that the ALJ’s statement that it is Respondent’s obligation and duty to explain what occurred, is error, and I do not adopt the ALJ’s statement that it is Respondent’s obligation and duty to explain what occurred.

Fourth, Complainant states the ALJ’s statement that self-serving testimony may be received and found credible, is error (Complainant’s Appeal Pet. at 14-15).

The ALJ states [t]here has never been any legal principle that prevents self-serving testimony, or, that precludes such testimony as not credible when the finder of fact (frequently a jury) finds it to be credible (Initial Decision and Order at 9).
Neither the Administrative Procedure Act nor the Rules of Practice prohibits the reception of self-serving testimony. Further, neither the Administrative Procedure Act nor the Rules of Practice provides that self-serving testimony cannot be found credible.
Numerous courts have held that self-serving testimony is admissible and may be found credible.\(^{19}\) Therefore, I reject Complainant's contention that the ALJ's statement that self-serving testimony may be received and found credible, is error.

Fifth, Complainant contends the ALJ imprecisely found Respondent's failure to fire Ronal Young, after Missy was found to be sore, constitutes Respondent's condoning Ronal Young's treatment of Missy. Complainant contends the ALJ would have been more accurate if she had found that Respondent's failure to fire Ronal Young indicates that Respondent's instruction to Ronal Young not to sore Missy was not genuine. (Complainant's Appeal Pet. at 15.)

Respondent testified that he left Missy in Ronal Young's custody until February 1999, approximately 6 months after Respondent learned Missy had been disqualified during a pre-show inspection from being shown or exhibited at the 60th Chelsea Resources, Ltd.*, 947 F.2d 611, 620 (2d Cir. 1991) (stating the fact that testimony may be self-serving goes to its weight rather than its admissibility); Wilson v. Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific R.R., 841 F.2d 1347, 1355 (7th Cir.) United States*, 308 F.2d 327, 332 (D.C. Cir. 1962) (rejecting an argument that self-serving testimony should not have been received; stating that an objection to self-serving testimony goes to the weight and not to the substance of the testimony), cert. denied, 374 U.S. 836 (1963); NLRB v. Walton Manufacturing Co., 286 F.2d 26, 28 (5th Cir. 1961) (stating a witness sworn testimony is not to be discredited because it supports the witness contention).

Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration (Tr. 174-76). The ALJ states that, by leaving Missy with Ronal Young for a period of months after Missy had been disqualified from being shown or exhibited at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration, Respondent was indirectly condoning what had previously occurred (Initial Decision and Order at 13). I infer the ALJ’s reference to what had previously occurred is a reference to Ronal Young’s entry of Missy for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration while Missy was sore.

Respondent removed Missy from Ronal Young’s custody in February 1999, when he found a suitable trainer; after September 4, 1998, Respondent requested Ronal Young not to sore Missy again; after September 4, 1998, Respondent extracted a promise from Ronal Young that he would not sore Missy again; and Respondent examined Missy each of the two times she was shown during the period she remained in Ronal Young’s custody after September 4, 1998 (Tr. 174-76). Respondent’s eventual removal of Missy from Ronal Young’s custody and the precautions Respondent took to prevent Ronal Young’s soring Missy after September 4, 1998, do not appear to be the actions of a horse owner who was indirectly condoning the entry of his horse in a horse show while the horse was sore. Based on the record before me, I agree with Complainant that Respondent’s failure to remove Missy from Ronal Young’s custody expeditiously after she was disqualified from being shown or exhibited at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration does not prove that Respondent was indirectly condoning what had previously occurred. Therefore, I do not adopt the ALJ's statement that Respondent was indirectly condoning what had previously occurred.

Moreover, I agree with Complainant that Respondent's failure to remove Missy from Ronal Young's custody after September 4, 1998, is an indication that Respondent's instruction not to sore Missy was not genuine. However, Respondent's testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy is corroborated by Ronal Young's written statement (RX B) and I give great weight to the ALJ's determination that Respondent's testimony that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy is credible. Therefore, I reject Complainant's contention that Respondent's instruction not to sore Missy was not genuine.

Sixth, Complainant contends the ALJ's finding that Respondent made unannounced visits to Young's Stables is not supported by the evidence and even if Respondent made unannounced visits, those visits would not have prevented the soring of Missy (Complainant's Appeal Pet. at 15-17).

The ALJ finds notwithstanding the distance which existed from Respondent's place of work and residence and the location of Young's Stables, Respondent made unannounced visits and never found the horse to be in a sore condition, at which time her gait appeared to him to be free, flowing, and natural (Initial Decision and Order at 4).
I disagree with Complainant’s contention that the evidence does not support the ALJ’s finding that Respondent made unannounced visits to Young’s Stables. Respondent, who the ALJ found to be credible, testified that he checked Missy periodically while she was at Young’s Stables and his visits to Young’s Stables were generally unannounced visits (Tr. 152-53). Moreover, Respondent testified that he never found Missy sore when he examined her at Young’s Stables (Tr. 153). Therefore, I adopt with only minor modifications the ALJ’s finding that Respondent made unannounced visits to Young’s Stables and never found Missy in a sore condition.

However, I agree with Complainant’s point that Respondent’s examinations of Missy at Young’s Stables would not have prevented soring. Complainant proved by a preponderance of the evidence that Missy was sore when entered at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration, and Respondent concedes that Missy was sore when Ronal Young entered Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Therefore, I conclude that Respondent’s examinations of Missy at Young’s Stable did not prevent Missy from being sored.

Seventh, Complainant contends the ALJ erred in relying on Respondent’s Exhibit B because it is unreliable. Complainant contends Respondent’s Exhibit B is not reliable because the name of the horse referenced in Respondent’s Exhibit B is Miss Ebony’s Threat’s Professor; whereas, the name of the horse that is the subject of this proceeding is Ebony Threat’s Ms. Professor. Moreover, Complainant states [i]t also Respondent's Exhibit B is a one-page document entitled Affidavit of Ronald Young, which states, as follows:

AFFIDAVIT OF RONALD YOUNG

I RONALD YOUNG, being first duly sworn, testify as follows:

1. I reside at 2001 Highway 64W, Bedford County, Tennessee;

2. On or about the 25th day of August, 1998 I was the trainer of the horse known as Miss Ebony's Threat Professor. Dr. Robert McCloy was the owner of said horse at that time;

3. When Dr. McCloy placed Miss Ebony's Threat Professor in training with me, he specifically advised me to refrain from soring his horse or from doing any act which might make his horse in violation of the Horse Protection Act. I told him that I was well aware of and understood the meaning of the Horse Protection Act; and

4. Dr. McCloy did not in any way participate or assist in entering, transporting, preparing for show, or exhibiting the horse Miss Ebony's Threat Professor on the date stated above.

My commission expires: Sept 9, 2002
The record indicates an inordinate amount of confusion regarding the name of the horse which is the subject of this proceeding. Missy is variously referred to as Ebony Threats Ms. Professor (Compl. ¶ 1), Ebony Threats Ms Professor (CX 1 at 3, CX 2), E.T Miss Professor (CX 3a), E.T. Miss Professor (CX 3b at 1, CX 3c at 1), Ebony Threats Ms. Professor (CX 4 at 1), Ebony Threats Ms Professor (CX 4 at 1), Ebony Threats Miss Professor (CX 6 at 2), Ebony Threats Miss Professor (Tr. 24), Ebony Threats Miss Professor (Tr. 37), Ebony Threat Miss Professor (Tr. 47) ET Miss Professor (Tr. 135), ET Miss Professor (Tr. 149-50), Missy (Tr. 169), and Miss Ebony Threats Professor (RX B). Despite this apparent confusion regarding Missy’s name, the record clearly establishes each of these references is to Missy. I do not find witnesses or documents unreliable merely because they refer to Missy by a name other than Ebony Threats Ms. Professor. Specifically, I do not find Ronal Young’s written statement unreliable because he referred to Missy as Miss Ebony Threats Professor (RX B).

Moreover, I reject Complainant’s contention that Ronal Young’s written statement is unreliable because the date in the first sentence of paragraph 2 appears to be changed. The first sentence in paragraph 2 of Ronal Young’s written statement states “On or about the 25th day of August, 1998 I was the trainer of the horse known as Miss Ebony Threats Professor.” The last digit in the year appears to have been typed as a different number than 8 and the number 8 is clearly written in ink over the typed number. I do not find Ronal Young’s written statement unreliable because of this change in the date in the first sentence of paragraph 2. The evidence clearly establishes that Ronal Young was Missy’s trainer during the period from August 1997 to approximately February 1999. Therefore, the date, as changed, is consistent with other evidence in the record which establishes the period during which Ronal Young was Missy’s trainer.

Eighth, Complainant contends the ALJ erroneously admitted Respondent’s Exhibit C. Specifically, Complainant contends Respondent’s Exhibit C is irrelevant because it does not mention Ronal Young or Missy and is silent on whether Respondent instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy. (Complainant’s Appeal Pet. at 20-21.)

Respondent’s Exhibit C is a one-page letter from Tim Gray which states, as follows:

To Whom It May Concern:

I have known Dr. Bob McCloy of Norman, Oklahoma, since 1994. I have also trained horses for Dr. McCloy since the year beginning in 94.

Dr. McCloy has always emphasized his strong desire for his Tennessee Walking Horses to be in compliance with the Horse Protection Act.

Sincerely,

Tim Gray, WHTA Horse Trainer

Relevant evidence is evidence having any tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence.\(^{20}\) I find Respondent’s Exhibit C is relevant because it corroborates Respondent’s testimony that he instructed the trainers he hired not to sore his horses (Tr. 151, 162, 170-71). This pattern of conduct tends to support Respondent’s evidence that he instructed Ronal Young not to sore Missy. I find Respondent’s affirmative steps to prevent Ronal Young from soring Missy are relevant to the degree of Respondent’s culpability for his violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). The degree of a respondent’s culpability is one of the statutory criteria that must be considered when determining the amount of any civil Ninth, Complainant contends the ALJ erroneously refers to Respondent’s Exhibit B and Respondent’s Exhibit C as affidavits (Complainant’s Appeal Pet. at 20).

The ALJ refers to Respondent’s Exhibit B and Respondent’s Exhibit C as affidavits (Initial Decision and Order at 5-6). An affidavit is a sworn statement in writing made under oath or on affirmation before a person having authority to administer the oath or affirmation. 22 affidavit . . . n . . . a sworn statement in writing made esp. under oath or on affirmation before an authorized magistrate or officer.

affidavit . . . A statement made in writing, confirmed by the maker’s oath, and intended to be used as judicial proof.

Black’s Law Dictionary 58 (7th ed. 1999):

Affidavit . . . A voluntary declaration of facts written down and sworn to by the declarant before an officer authorized to administer oaths.

AFFIDAVIT. A statement or declaration reduced to writing, and sworn to or affirmed before some officer who has (continued...)
authority to administer an oath or affirmation.

Glasener,
Tim Gray’s undated letter to To Whom It May Concern (RX C) is an unsworn statement which clearly does meet the definition of an affidavit. Therefore, I agree with Complainant that the ALJ’s characterization of Respondent’s Exhibit C as an affidavit, is error. The document entitled Affidavit of Ronal Young (RX B) is a written statement sworn and subscribed before a person identified as a notary public. Tennessee notaries public have the power to take affidavits; however, the notary public’s seal must be affixed to any affidavit taken by a notary public. The affixation of the notary’s seal provides prima facie proof of a notary’s official character, and, without the notary’s seal, there is no proof that the person signing as a notary is a notary. The notary public’s seal is not affixed to Respondent’s Exhibit B. Therefore, I conclude that there is not sufficient proof that the person before whom Ronal Young swore and subscribed Respondent’s Exhibit B is a person having authority to administer Respondent's oath. I agree with Complainant that the ALJ's characterization of Respondent's Exhibit B as an affidavit, is error.

Tenth, Complainant contends the ALJ erroneously states that Complainant was required to prove that Respondent knew of his trainer's compliance records (Complainant's Appeal Pet. at 25-28).

The ALJ states "[o]n the record of this case, the Government completely failed to meet its burden to show that Dr. McCloy had knowledge of Mr. Young's or any other trainer's prior violations" (Initial Decision and Order at 10). I agree with Complainant that the ALJ's statement is error. A horse owner's knowledge of prior violations of the Horse Protection Act by a trainer who the horse owner hires is not an element of a violation of section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). Therefore, I have not adopted the ALJ's statement that Complainant failed to meet his burden to show that Respondent had knowledge of Ronald Young's or any other trainer's previous violations of the Horse Protection Act.

The ALJ does not explicitly identify the test which she used to determine whether Respondent violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). In any event, I agree with Complainant's point that Baird is inapposite. Respondent may obtain judicial review of this Decision and Order in the court of appeals of the United States for the circuit in which Respondent resides or has his place of business or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.\(^{25}\) Respondent does not reside in or have his place of business in the Sixth Circuit where Baird is applicable. Instead, the record establishes that Respondent resides in and has his place of business in Oklahoma (Compl. ¶ 1; Answer ¶ 1; RX D). Therefore, Respondent may obtain judicial review in the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit has rejected Baird.\(^{26}\) Moreover, I am unable to locate any decision issued by the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit which adopts Baird or even addresses the test to be used to determine whether a horse owner has violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)). Therefore, Baird is not applicable to this proceeding. Instead, if Respondent obtains review in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, the test to determine whether a horse owner has Twelfth, Complainant contends the ALJ erred by not disqualifying Respondent from showing, exhibiting, or entering any horse and from participating in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction (Complainant's Appeal Pet. at 43).

I agree with Complainant that the ALJ erred by not imposing a period of disqualification on Respondent, and I disqualify Respondent for a period of 1 year from showing, exhibiting, or entering any horse, directly or indirectly through any agent, employee, or device, and from managing, judging, or otherwise participating in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction. My reasons for imposing the minimum disqualification period on Respondent are fully explicated in this Decision and Order, supra.

RESPONDENT S APPEAL PETITION

Respondent raises one issue in Respondent's Petition for Appeal of Decision and Order and Answer to the Complainant's Petition for Appeal [hereinafter Respondent's Appeal Petition]. Respondent contends the ALJ erroneously based her conclusion that Respondent violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)) on Respondent’s failure to remove Missy from Ronal Young’s custody as soon as Respondent learned that Missy had been disqualified from being exhibited or shown at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration (Respondent’s Appeal Pet. at 3-5).

The ALJ based her conclusion that Respondent violated section 5(2)(D) of the Horse Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)) on Respondent’s failure to remove Missy from Ronal Young’s custody expeditiously after Missy was disqualified from being exhibited or shown at the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration, as follows:

Once [Respondent] knew the horse’s condition of having been sored, he did not immediately discharge or fire the trainer. By allowing the horse to remain with Mr. Young over a period of months, for boarding, training, and showing, Respondent was indirectly condoning what had previously occurred and possibly subjecting the horse to further abuse. Because of this, I conclude that Respondent violated section 5(2)(D) of the Act (15 U.S.C. § 1824(2)(D)).

Initial Decision and Order at 13.

Respondent's breach of his guarantee as a horse owner that Ronald Young (a person who Respondent hired to board, train, and show Missy and a person allowed by Respondent to enter Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration) would not enter Missy in the 60th Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration for the purpose of showing or exhibiting Missy while she was sore.

COMPLAINANT'S EXHIBIT 7

A three-page article by Vickie Mazzola entitled Everyone likes a silver dollar, which was apparently copied from an internet website, is attached to the record transmitted to me by Hearing Clerk. This article is marked CX 7. I find nothing in the record indicating that Complainant's Exhibit 7 was received in evidence. Consequently, I do not find Complainant's Exhibit 7 part of the record, I do not consider Complainant's Exhibit 7, and Complainant's Exhibit 7 forms no part of the basis of this Decision and Order.

Complainant and Respondent have made numerous arguments, contentions, and objections. I have carefully considered the evidence and contentions of both parties. To the extent not adopted, they are found to be irrelevant, immaterial, or not legally sustainable. My decision is based on the record as a whole.

For the foregoing reasons, the following Order should be issued.
ORDER

1. Respondent Robert B. McCloy, Jr., is assessed a $2,200 civil penalty. The civil penalty shall be paid by certified check or money order made payable to the Treasurer of the United States and sent to:

   Colleen A. Carroll
   United States Department of Agriculture
   Office of the General Counsel
   Marketing Division
   Room 2343-South Building
   Washington, DC 20250-1417

   Respondent's payment of the civil penalty shall be forwarded to, and received by, Ms. Carroll within 30 days after service of this Order on Respondent. Respondent shall indicate on the certified check or money order that payment is in reference to HPA Docket No. 99-0020.

2. Respondent Robert B. McCloy, Jr., is disqualified for a period of 1 year from showing, exhibiting, or entering any horse, directly or indirectly through any agent, employee, or device, and from managing, judging, or otherwise participating in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction. Participating means engaging in any activity beyond that of a spectator, and includes, without limitation: (a) transporting or arranging for the transportation of horses to or from any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction; (b) personally giving instructions to exhibitors; (c) being present in the warm-up areas, inspection areas, or other areas where spectators are not allowed at any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction; and (d) financing the participation of others in any horse show, horse exhibition, horse sale, or horse auction.

The disqualification of Respondent shall become effective on the 30th day after service of this Order on Respondent.

3. Respondent Robert B. McCloy, Jr., has the right to obtain review of this Order in the court of appeals of the United States for the circuit in which he resides or has his place of business or in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. Respondent must file a notice of appeal in such court within 30 days from the date of this Order and must simultaneously send a copy of the notice of appeal by certified mail to the Secretary of Agriculture. The date of this Order is March 22, 2002.
